Tryouts Start For Next Play

"Craig's Wife" Is Next Production

Try-outs for the coming College-Community play "Craig's Wife" to be staged early this spring were held last Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Little Theatre.

The three-act drama by George Kelley has parts for seven women and four men. Students are reminded that no rehearsals will be given during finals. Prospective actors can get a copy of the play in Director Hal Ulrici's office.

The parts increase the tension through the interplay of their characters and their jobs or life situations. Only at the very end are the conflicts resolved.

"Craig's Wife" was a Pulitzer prize play which helped Author Kelly earn the honor of being among our leading social Dramatists.

Anyone interested in stagecraft and who enjoys dramatic work is invited to attend one of the next meetings.

Hartnell To Go On The Air Soon

Hartnell College will be putting on a radio show within the next week or two. The trials for this show are in session at the present time.

"This is your College," is about Hartnell College, an institution which has served the Salinas Valley for over thirty years. The program is designed particularly for the purpose of acquainting everyone with the various phases of Hartnell, its life, its students, its faculty, and its administration.

Loan Fund For Women Students

For the first time Hartnell College has a loan fund exclusively for women. All women students who need money may apply to Miss Handley for a loan.

A loan may be obtained for either a short or long period with no interest charged. Many thanks should be given to the Salinas Soroptimist Club who provided money for these loans.

International Club Chinese Dinner Held

The Hartnell College International Club sponsored their annual Chinese Dinner Thursday, January 14, at the Women's Gym, from 11 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Chairmen of the preparation committees were: Beverly Hargraves, tickets; Rosita Borja, decorations; Lily Malbas, food; James Bender, publicity; and Rodney Pickles, entertainment.

All members of the International Club participated in the preparation of the Chinese dinner.

Members of the International Club stated that although there was a lot of planning and hard work, it was still a lot of fun working together on such a project.

Music Club Holds Program

About 25 persons were present at the Hartnell Music Club's regular meeting on Monday, January 11, at 4:00 P.M. A short business meeting was held and followed by a short musical program.

The program was as follows:

1. "Stardust" — Ken Daugherty, Trombone Solo.
2. "These Foolish Things" Janis Thomas, Piano Solo.
3. "Perdido" — Constance Gionson, Trumpet; John Ucovich, Piano; Justin Pope, Bass; Don Racyua, Guitar; Gene Norcross, Drums.
4. "Sunrise Serenade" — Janis Thomas, Piano Solo.
5. "Ebb Tide" — Ken Daugherty, Trombone Solo.

A good time was had by all according to report.

MEMO

All students are reminded that the dates for re-registration for next semester are Thursday, January 28 for all students with last names beginning with any letter from A to L, and Friday, January 29 for students from L to Z.

All new students will register on Monday, February 1.

Winter Ball Is On The Way

The second biggest dance of the year, the Winter Ball, will be held January 30, at Asilomar in Pacific Grove from nine o'clock, featuring the music of the Stardusters, plus a Midnight Buffet.

Tickets for the gala affair went on sale Monday of this week for $3.00 a couple. Appropriate dress for the occasion will be formal for girls and suits for the boys.

This school dance, with arrangements made by the Social Activities Committee, will be financed partly by student body funds.

Headed by General Chairman Esther Williams, chairmen for the various committees are: Mary Lou Smith, publicity; Sue Crawford, midnight buffet; Georgann Gorossi, decorations; Lloyd Hagquist, bids and programs; and Cloyse Little, music.

Hartnell Choir Visits Santa Cruz

On January 17, the Hartnell Choir, under the direction of Mr. Vahe Aslanian, will present its third concert this year.

The concert will be held at the First Congregational Church in Santa Cruz, California. The concert, which will be a repeat performance of the Carmel and Salinas concerts, will include the following selections: Ceremony of Carols, written by Benjamin Britten; Chorales from the Christmas Oratorio, by Johann Sebastian Bach, and Rejoice, Beloved Christians, by Dietrich Buxtehude.

If you happened to miss the previous concerts, you are invited to attend the performance.

Business English Class Projects Get Results

Three Business English students, Aurelio Marquez, Charles Hamlin, and Richard Ditmars, each wrote five business letters to five different organizations.

They have received answers from Chamber of Commerce in Alaska, Paramount Studios, authors, an army unit in Korea, and many other interesting organizations.

Paramount Studio sent them information about three up-coming starlets. The authors, Lucius Beebe and Charles Clegg, in addition to

Coach Voris Resigns Post

DICK VORIS

Voris Accepts Job With L.A. Rams

Dick Voris, sensational young coach of the Hartnell football team, will be the new head line coach of the Los Angeles Rams professional football team.

According to John B. Lemos, Hartnell president, Voris asked school officials to release him from his present contract so that he could accept the offer from Ram Head Coach Hampton Pool. The school officials agreed to let Voris join the Los Angeles Rams. Voris immediately signed a contract with the Rams and notified Hampton Pool of his decision. Hartnell President Lemos stated, "Voris is one of the greatest young coaches in the business. We hate to lose such a fine coach and teacher from our faculty. We know that Voris has done a lot to raise the standards of junior college coaching in the West." No mention was made today of Voris' successor.

Hampton Pool, the Rams' outstanding head coach, said, "Voris knows more about line coaching techniques than any coach in the business. It was Dick Voris who contributed greatly to our 1953 campaign. His work with our line during the summer training program produced outstanding results. His knowledge of the split "T" definitely helped the Rams. Voris will be in charge of all aspects of line coaching, defensively and offensively, with our club."

Voris' decision to leave Hartnell, where he has never lost a collegiate game and boasts a two year record of 20 wins, no losses and one tie, came as a shock to the Salinas Valley residents.

Ski Club Plans Yosemite Trip

At a meeting earlier this week the Ski Club made the official date for their Ski trip to Yosemite the 12 to the 14 of February. Sign-ups will be posted for students' names, and a place to designate if they are planning to take a car. Everyone that attends the Ski trip must first purchase a $2.00 membership card to the club.

At this meeting the club also drew up a proposed constitution. The next meeting will be held on the 8 of February. All students interested in the Ski trip are urged to attend as final arrangements for transportation will be made at this meeting.

Flying Club Holds Meeting

The Flying Club met last Tuesday noon to plan a trip and see a movie. Tentative plans were made to have a Fly-in-Breakfast at the San Jose Airport, Sunday, February 7, where members, friends, and guests would travel there in the Flying Club's four planes.

The film the members saw was entitled "Flying As A Career." The Club also discussed the possible purchase of a Omni Radio Set for one of their planes, which will replace the older radio now in use.

answering the letters, included samples of some of their recent published works.

The three boys picked the project to gain real experience in Business English.

Art Club Holds New Election

The Art Club met last Tuesday for a brief meeting to elect officers for the coming semester. The members also discussed the Art Club scholarship fund.

Newly-elected officers are as follows: president, Loava Mead; vice-president, Lilly Malbas; secretary, Shirley Gnesa; and treasurer, Walt Dolan. Students who served as this semester's officers were Loava Mead, Lilly Malbas, Iva Brooks, and Rich Young.

THE EDITOR'S VIEWS

By DARRELL RAINS

This is the last edition of The Panther Sentinel for this semester, but we'll be back again next semester with more news and features.

As you probably all recall from the beginning of the year, we ran a great many notices requesting a larger enrollment for the Panther staff. Well, here it is again. If you want a bigger and better school paper (and one put out weekly) then please help out. A good paper must have a good staff, and we can use your help—the only requirements being that you read and write in English and be able to type at least a little. This is your chance to help out the college and be a real reporter, so let's all run right down to Room 9 and sign up for journalism for the second semester!

As will be noticed in this paper, we are now running more ads. This is due to the fact that the delay in publishing this paper enabled us to send the staff out selling these ads. It is by no means easy to sell ads for any school or college paper, and in order to make it easier for the journalism students we offered a special deal to the merchants of Salinas. For this issue only, we accepted merchandise rather than cash for the ads run—an inducement to the merchants to buy at least one ad. The merchandise collected will not increase our budget because it is being donated to worthy charities—one reason why the ads were easier to sell—however, the experience gained by the staff and the valuable contacts made will make it much easier to sell more cash ads next semester. Our thanks to the Salinas merchants who received the solicitors courteously, and who cooperated in this attempt to teach advertising firsthand.

Early next semester The Panther Sentinel is going to conduct a poll of Hartnell student opinion on several questions of national interest. The students' answers will be recorded, tallied, and analyzed by members of the Hartnell faculty. Watch for more information in our next edition.

Don't forget to buy your ticket to the Hartnell Winter Ball, to be held January 30. More complete details of the ball will be given in our next issue.

Before You Get Drafted . . .

By J. R. INGRAM

Met a young fellow the other day and he was bemoaning the fact that he was having trouble with his veteran's compensation affairs. Don't let it happen to you! Here are a few things to keep in mind should your number come up:

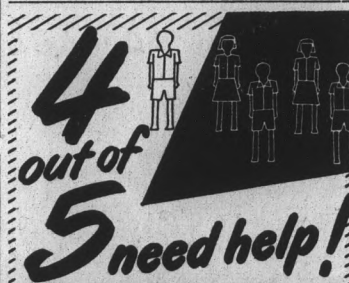

Get all your records in order at once. You'll want them in such shape that all but current ones can be safely stored with relatives or friends in case your family is not in a position to do so.

GET POWER OF ATTORNEY giving your wife, parents, or anyone else you care to designate, the authority to act in your name. The authority can be restricted to one or two matters or can be very broad. If your holdings are very extensive, have a lawyer prepare one to fit your needs. Then be sure to have it recorded with the county or municipal clerk; for the original might get lost.

YOUR LETTERS HOME are more important than you think. It is a good idea to have your family save ALL letters you write while in uniform. Be sure to instruct them at least to save, IN THE ORIGINAL ENVELOPE, any that mention injuries, illness, or medical or dental treatment of any kind. Believe me, in many, many cases, such correspondence has turned out to be the decisive evidence in settling numerous veterans' claims.

Repairs Finished On Women's Gym

The Women's Gym, which has been under repairs for the last four months, has finally reached the finishing stages. All is done but the waxing of the floors, which is in progress now.

The gym has many new conveniences to facilitate the physical education department. A new supply room has been erected, plus more locker room, and a new office for the instructor. The most impressive of the new additions, which is the pride of Women's Physical Instructor Miss June Handy is the new tile showers.

"These showers are the latest and most convenient there are," she says very proudly of the rebuilt gym. She has also stated that the girls will be able to move in on Monday, providing that all of the floor is refinished.

WAA Operates Concessions At Basketball Games

In order to make some money, the W.A.A. operated a concession stand during the Small Colleges tournament during Christmas vacation as well as during all home basketball games. Of the net profit, 15 percent will go to the student board.

The girls who have been working on the booths are: Gertie Boracca, Madeline Netto, Jackie Campionica, Yvonne Fagundes, and Shirley Smiley.

Home Ec Classes Learn How To Operate A Home

The girls in the Home Economic department, under the direction of Miss Gladeys Schmidt, have been learning "like eager beavers" to be perfect little house wives.

The three classes consists of clothing, cooking, and consumer buying. The clothing class has successfully completed two projects. A wool skirt and a blouse was one project and a dress the other. They have also been studying colors, styles, and method of construction.

The consumer buying class has been studying buying of all house hold appliances, wearing apparel and how to buy household furnishings. The last few weeks they have been learning how to get the most for your money.

The foods department has been covering canning, time and money management, meals, and are now on pastries and desserts.

Basketball Brochures Sent

Hartnell College Student Publicity Director, Cloyse Little recently sent out Hartnell Basketball brochures to the various colleges of the Northwestern California Conference and the Coast Section.

The purpose of the brochures is to describe to other schools our basketball team, head coach, assistant coach, colors, nickname, and yell leaders.

The front cover for the brochures was designed by Tom Klingensmith.

Know Your Social Security

(THE FIFTH OF A SERIES)

By J. R. INGRAM

TO QUALIFY FOR ANY BENEFITS: First, you must work for at least 18 months under social security. Until you are in the system for a year and a half, neither you nor your family is eligible for anything.

Technically, the measurement is not exactly 18 months but "six quarters of coverage." What that means in practice is this: If you get $50 or more from covered employment during any calendar quarter, the three-month periods beginning January 1, April 1, July 1, October 1, you get credit for having worked under social security for the whole three months.

For example, you might work the month of January and get paid $50, then be laid off February and March. Still, you have worked for three months as far as social security is concerned. Now then, if you are self-employed, you must earn $100 in a quarter to have the quarter count. Now assuming you have worked for at least that 18-month minimum, here is how you qualify for each type of benefit.

FAMILY BENEFITS AND THE LUMP-SUM BENEFIT will be paid in any one of these three situations: If you worked under social security for at least half of the three years just preceding your death. If you worked under social security for a total of ten years before you died. If all the months that you worked under social security at any time prior to your death, when added together, equal at least half the length of time between January 1, 1951, and the date of death. (For instance, you worked under social security for half of 1938, half of 1939, all of 1940 and 1941 but not since, a total of three years. Your family will draw benefits if you die any time within the next six years. For until January 1, 1957, your three years of past coverage will equal or exceed half the length of time between January 1, 1951, and the date of death.)

RETIREMENT BENEFITS are payable when you reach 65 in either one of these two situations: If you worked under social security for a total of at least 10 years before you retired. If all the months that you worked under social security at any time prior to retirement, when added together, equal at least half the length of time between January 1, 1951, and the date of retirement.

WIDOWS' AND PARENTS' BENEFITS are payable in either of these two situations: If you worked under social security for at least ten years before you died. If all the months that you worked under social security at any time prior to your death, when added together, equal at least half the length of time between January 1, 1951, and the date of death.

NOTE TO VETERANS. when you are adding up your months of coverage, count each month you spent in the armed forces between September 16, 1940, and July 24, 1947, as a month under social security. Part of a month counts as a whole one.

HOW MUCH WILL YOU GET? This is where social security really gets complicated. The government has set up a table of benefits, together with a converter chart, which takes a lot of work out of figuring benefits, but not all of it. Space does not permit the reproduction of it here. When the time

Library Review

Three new books added to the Hartnell library are: "Masterplots," "Time and Time Again," and "The Oliviers."

"Time and Time Again" by James Hilton is a reasonably interesting story of the rather uneventful life of minor British diplomat, Charles Anderson, who has filled several posts with fair success and no publicity. The story begins with Anderson and his son dining in Paris on Gerald's seventeenth birthday. When Charles learns that Gerald's reason for leaving dinner early is a girl, he recalls his own youthful romance, and from there on Charles' life story is brought up to date through a series of flashbacks. Good picture of the English upper middle class.

"The Oliviers" by Felix Barker, is a book about the private lives and careers of two of the theatre's brightest stars.

Together and alone, in plays on Broadway and London, and in films made in Hollywood and England, Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh have given many memorable performances, but have always left a great deal of the curiosity about themselves unsatisfied. "The Oliviers" takes us behind the scenes of their lives, in and out of the theatre, for the first time.

Volume Four of "Masterplots" by Magill has been added to the other three volumes in the library. Those familiar with earlier volumes in the series will recognize the ready-reference format employed in Volume IV. They will recall that "Masterplot" does not offer mere "descriptions" of literary works along with a few random quotations but instead, presents the sequence-by-sequence story of the plot of each of the famous works represented. All the material in this collection was newly written expressly for "Masterplots."

comes to pay the benefits the government will do all the figuring. In our next and concluding chapter of this series we shall take up the collection of benefits.

ANNY AND THE WINTER BALL

By ANNY NONYMOUS

Anyone looking around the Hartnell campus would credit the students' troubled faces to the coming finals. Well, Anny suspects that's only half right. The boys might be directing their little minds along that line, it's true, but the girls are frantically devising ways to get a date for the Winter Ball.

The female specy of that higher animal called man have visions of parading into the Asilomar sporting their new black net formals,

Platter Chatter

By MALONEY

Well here's another list of the top ten records in the nation. There are a couple of interesting things about this list; things which I haven't seen before.

In the first place, Eddie has two songs in the top ten this week. I mean Eddie Fisher, of course, and his two songs are "Oh My Papa" and "Many Times" in the sixth and seventh place respectively.

The second unusual thing about this week's list is the fact that two different renditions of the same song made the select list at the same time. The song is "Oh Mien Papa" and the renditions are by Eddie Fisher and E. Calvet. Both are well done.

Well, the discussion of the additions in this week's list has taken much of my space. Here's a quick rundown on the rest of the top ten:

1. "Rags to Riches" by Tony Bennet.
2. "Ricochet" by Teresa Brewer.
3. "Changing Partners" by Patty Page.
4. "That's Amore," by Dean Martin.
5. "You, You, You" by the Ames Brothers.
6. "Oh My Papa" by Eddie Fisher.
7. "Many Times" by Eddie Fisher.
8. "Stranger in Paradise" by Tony Bennet.
9. "Oh Mien Papa" by E. Calvet.
10. "Eh Cumpari" by Julius La Rosa.

That winds it up for this week. See you a 'round (like an orange).

Coaches Get New Sweaters

Students of Hartnell have been congratulating the members of the college coaching staff on their very fine new sweat shirts. Director of athletics, Ed Adams, said he had ordered the sweaters some time ago, but just recently received them.

The new shirts are of the T-shirt style, short sleeved, with the insignia "Hartnell Coaching Staff," across the front. The coaches of Hartnell College seem to be proud to wear such shirts after producing so great teams in the past and present.

MARIN SPORTS DAY

A coed College College Sports Day was held last Saturday at Marin. The Hartnell students participating in the Archery event were: Ann Shirachi, Salina Hansen, Ed Dante and Gerald Ackerman.

In the tennis bout, Troy George and Warren Tubbs participated. The badminton team consisted of Gertie Boracca, Jackie Campionica, Yvonne Fagundes, Leota Fieldgrove, Madeline Netto, Shirley Siniley and Mary Lou Smith.

Hartnell First In Small College Tournament

In the latest small college tournament held in Salinas, the Hartnell Panther cagers came out with flying colors—in fact, they came out in first place. They won this honor by defeating the Contra Costa cagers by 72 to 50. A margin of 22 points. The all-conference team, made up of the best men in the tournament had two Hartnell players. They are Bob Larson and Jack Rowley. Also in the team was Dan Heinrichs from Reedly, Cleo Coleman from Fresno, and Bob Borghesani.

The Hartnell outstanding player award was won by Jack Rowley, who was hard pressed by some other outstanding players. All the trophies were donated by the Salinas Junior Chamber of Commerce. The first place honor, going to Hartnell, was donated by the Sportshop. The second place trophy was given by Wallace Men's Shop, the third place trophy was donated by the Peninsula Typewriter Co., and fourth place by the Key Hole. "This was a very successful

Hartnell Sends Basketball On Tour Of Nation

Hartnell is sending a basketball, painted with a "dream schedule" for a junior college, around the U.S.

The ball was painted by former Hartnell student Finis Jeffers and will make a cross-country trip from one large college to another. After the coaches receive the ball, each will put down what he thinks the score would be if his team played Hartnell. Altogether there are 24 games on the schedule, starting with Santa Clara and then moving to the University of California campus. From there the ball will move east, under the guard of the United States Postal Service.

The ball, which has already started to move, has visited the Cal. campus. After seeing the ball, the California cage mentor called it a "nightmare schedule."

Although the ball is a far traveling critter, the Hartnell Panther team is having its hands full with the Northern California teams.

The idea is already paying off in publicity, as the Los Angeles Times has already carried a story on the project, and Jim Scott, Berkeley Gazette sports editor, has given assurance that Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune will head the ball around Indiana and Northwestern campuses.

Ex-Hartnell Man Plays For Army

(Pacific Army Headquarters, Hawaii)—Private John J. McGuire, former Hartnell college cager is now playing center for the Musketeers, U.S. Army, Pacific basketball team.

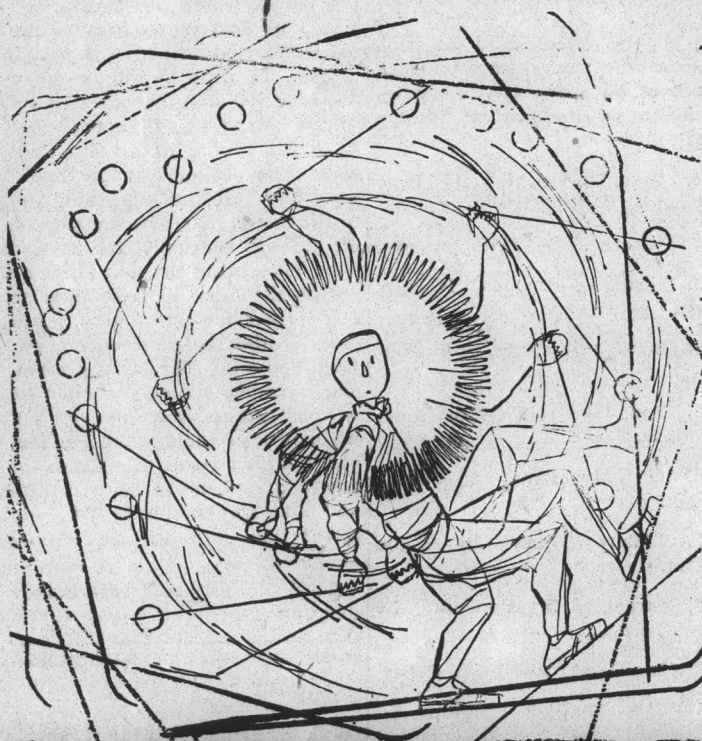

Private McGuire, a resident of Honolulu, Hawaii, was graduated from Hartnell last year, and while there played two years of varsity basketball and also participated in golf.

tournament, both in cash receipts and in attendance," stated Coach Ed Adams.
